Daily Thought

Be sure that straightforwardness is more than a match at last for all the involved windings of deceit.— F. W. Robertson.Maybe, murderer George Warner's mania is for the excitement of pursuit.Oh, well, if we've got a billion dollar government, England has a two billion dollar one.By removing the hazard from kias-ing, Dr. Wiley has robbed love making of half its delight.Wonder if the officials of the Waters-Pierce Oil company had ever demonstrated to the city council of St. Louis the utter impossibility of those nineteen storage tanks, which exploded, ever exploding."Hobble skirts are much worn by American women in Paris," say the fashion authorities. But what are they like?" inquires the Owensboro Messenger.They are much like the familiar sausage skin gown, but hide bound.The Evansville judge, who informed a too frequent divorce applicant that husbands "are not dolls to be discarded when one is tired of them", got his figures twisted.
Probably the lady regards men as dime savings banks to be broken whenever she wants money and then thrown away.Eight thousand Californians enjoyed Margaret Anglin's open air production of "Sophocles' drama, "Antigone," in the Greek theater at the University. Of course, that is an unsatisfactory substitute for the great American classic, which will be produced at Reno this year; but it shows that plucky people of the coast always make the best of things.The Nashville Banner fears the law against prize fighting has not served to accomplish its purpose of preventing the demoralizing influence of the spectacle, since the moving picture shows will present it in all its fascinating hideousness to the populace.
We disagree with the Banner. If the same pleasing demoralization can be realized by watching the films for a nickel, that is possible after a long, tiresome and expensive trip to the ring side, patronage of the game will be discouraged, and pugilism, excepting mock matches for picture concerns, will be a lost art in America.

CAMPBELL CANTRILL.

Campbell Cantrill, against whom grave charges were made during his campaign for renomination for congress in the Seventh district, won at the primary with the Burley society and every influential paper in the district against him. The Lexington Herald frankly admits it cannot support Cantrill until he answers the charges preferred against him with much particularity in the primary campaign and there is a no uncertain demand in the district for a fusion candidate. When an organization like the tobacco pool gets into poli-

BANKS' CONDITIONS GOOD

Bank clearings for six months ..... $18,502,807 This week ..... 707,121 Same week last year... 784,875From the first month of this year the bank clearings have shown a steady climb for the first half of 1910, and this year has the prospect of being the most successful in the history of Paducah.The clearings for the first six months amount to $18,502,807, which is a record that will compare favorably with the business of any other city the size of Paducah. In 1906 the clearings totaled $35,548,- 679, and the business of the first six months indicates that 1910 will sur-pass the business of four years ago before there was any financial disturbance.All the merchants report a good business with only a slight falling off in trade due to the warm weather. Instead of decreasing trade the warmer weather has actually stimulated many lines. Farmers are particularly pleased over the prospect for a bumper crop. The river has not disturbed the crops in the lowlands, while the wheat crop will be the heaviest ever harvested in McCracken county. Traffic with the railroads is unusually heavy.All of the banks in the city declared the usual dividends this week and closed the first half of the year's business.lies, we confess we like it no better than we do the spectacle of the great trusts in the same interference with individual responsibilities. But Mr. Cantrill must be made to realize that American politics has ceased to be a game, and winning a partisan nomination in a partisan district is not the end of the matter. He is to represent a large constituency in the chief law-making body of this union, and he must prove himself fit; for the stigma that attaches to him personally is transmitted to his people through his representative capacity.

THE MUNICIPAL LEAGUE

"If all the principal speeches, the responses by members of the league and the resolutions adopted, had been written and spoken by one man they could not have more thoroughly agreed on the ills of municipal government in Kentucky and the remedies," said City Solicitor James Campbell, Jr., secretary of the Municipal League of Kentucky, on his return from the meeting at Louisville. "It indicates that men in all parts of the commonwealth are of the same opinion, and the interest shown at the first meeting encourages those who were active in promoting the organization to hope that good results will be realized. Paducah was the only second class city represented; but the business men of Louisville appreciate the importance of the movement, and the attendance from the third and fourth class cities was gratifying. We had no fear at all of interesting the larger cities, once the object of the movement was understood. How to make our tax system more attractive to outside capital and how to revise the municipal code so as to secure the most economical and efficient local government are questions the league will undertake to decide."Through the instrumentality of the league municipal questions may be thoroughly threshed out before the legislature meets, representatives from the various cities may meet upon a common ground with a common object, working in harmony for the same beneficial ends. Instead of going to Frankfort, each with his own notion, and each suspicious of the other, to use force where necessary to secure their purpose and to trade influences where available to accomplish it. The net result up to date of such tactics is a confused mass of municipal laws, mixed with no little political jobbery, expensive municipal governments, inefficient in the hands of any except men of extraordinary ability, and difficult for them to manage.The league expects to have reform measures carefully prepared and fully understood by all for the next session of the legislature. The meetings of these heads of city governments to confer upon common problems will also have a good effect on them, incidentally awakening them to the actual business of administration, and divorcing their thoughts from the purely political phase of their positions.To Secretary Campbell is due no small measure of the success of the first meeting of the league.

STATE PRESS.

A Word for Mr. Downs.

The Gazette was this week entered by the postoffice department at Washington for transmission through the mails at newspaper rates. This was quick action in the department, with its care and formality and red tape. But our efficient postmaster, Mr. Downs, and his courteous assistant, Mr. Clyde Collye, evidently exercised extreme care in getting up our application, and there was not a single hitch in the proceedings. We extend to them our thanks. If they had monkeyed around and half attended to it, we might have been compelled to pay heavy postage for months, but they expedited the matter, as they do all official business which comes within their keeping.—Calloway Gazette.
